Farai Mbumbwa is a qualified Healthcare Actuary with more than 10 years' experience in the healthcare industry. Farai is a University of Cape Town alumnus, where he obtained a Bachelor of Business Science (2007) and Postgraduate Diploma (2013) in Actuarial Science.

Farai has wide experience in healthcare, having been an actuarial consultant to various medical aids, as well as some hospitals. More recently, he has taken up a new challenge in the managed healthcare space, with a desire to assist clients thrive and remain sustainable as they provide healthcare to their members.

Farai is married ("living the dream" in his words) to his varsity sweetheart, Chenesai, and they have two children. In his spare time, Farai enjoys listening to radio, particularly talk radio and music from all parts of the African continent. Farai is also an avid sports fan, with a healthy admiration for Rafa Nadal and the Proteas. He also regularly serves in the children's programme at his church, Jubilee.
